With Mayoral, local and European elections in May, as Newham's Young Mayor, I am glad that young people are taking the opportunity to talk about what it means to vote for the first time (p23).

There is an interesting article about being a proud new resident of the country and the borough as we celebrate ten years of citizenship ceremonies in Newham (p6).

We show what happens when the police and council join forces to take action over drug-related criminality (p10).

And don't miss our exclusive interview with EastEnders' Jessie Wallace who is starring in the new production of Joan Littlewood's Fings Aint Wot They Used T'Be at Theatre Royal Stratford East (p14).

IN BRIEF //

Alcohol sale bid blocked

Newham's Licensing Sub-committee has rejected a bid by supermarket chain Tesco to sell alcohol 24-hours per day from its store in Green Street, Upton Park.

The store was refused an extended licence. Police objected to the application because of the impact it could have on Green Street, which already has issues with street drinking and anti-social behaviour.

They claimed if a 24-hour licence was granted there was "considerable potential for public nuisance" with bottles and cans discarded and people urinating on the pavement.

Debt advice surgery

Residents needing support with financial matters, including debt advice, can visit a new drop-in service at East Ham Customer Service Centre and Library in Barking Road, East Ham.

Trained advisors are on hand on the last Thursday of every month from 10am-4pm to offer free, confidential and impartial advice. Visitors are seen on a first come, first served basis.

If you are unable to make the surgeries or would like further information, visit www.newham.gov.uk/DebtAdvice

Nightclub licence is revoked

Newham councillors have revoked the licence of Silvertown's Guvnor bar in North Woolwich Road after hearing the premises are associated with serious crime and disorder.

Police asked the council to review the licence, claiming that over the past year the venue had generated 19 serious crimes. The most recent at just after 4am on Sunday 23 February saw a man stabbed twice.

>>> Gym squat is secured

Six squatters have been evicted from a former gym in Forest Gate where former bodybuilder turned film star Arnold Schwarzenegger trained in the 1960s.

Officers from Newham Council's enforcement, anti-social behaviour, planning and building control teams worked with police, firefighters, a homeless charity and the site owners, to clear and secure the premises.

The building in Romford Road, formerly Wag Bennett's Gym, has been empty for some time. It has been uninhabitable since a fire last year and was a magnet for anti-social behaviour.

Nick Bracken, the council's director for enforcement and safety, said: "We will not tolerate anti-social behaviour in any shape or form. The closure of this property is good news for local residents. It was the result of excellent partnership work with police and other agencies to make Newham safer while offering support to those vulnerable people directly affected."

Funding for good causes

A fund that supports Newham's community groups has distributed almost £60,000 to eight community projects that help residents build confidence and skills.

The Aspers Good Causes Fund, set up by Aspers Casino in Stratford and Newham Council, helps organisations involved in education, art, dance, music, sport and the environment.

Newham and Essex Beagles Athletics Club will use their money to organise running groups. Bonny Downs Community Association will develop a community garden in East Ham while West Ham Boys Amateur Boxing Club will run a coaching programme.

Gasworks Cody Dock charity will construct a wildlife habitat in Canning Town. Newham and University of East London Swimming Club will look to increase participation levels.

Newham All Star Sports Academy will deliver a range of coaching and Newham Angling Club will teach young people fishing to competition standard. Newham Swords will deliver weekly fencing sessions with their money.

Young make the right moves

More than 160 children from 13 schools competed in the second Newham Primary Schools' Team Chess Tournament at the Old Town Hall in Stratford.

The tournament was arranged as part of Newham Council's partnership with the Chess in Schools and Communities (CSC) programme. For many of the under-11s taking part it was their first event.

Ravenscroft School shared first place with St Joachim's. Others involved were Calverton, Ellen Wilkinson, Carpenters, Dersingham, Godwin, Hartley, Lathom, St Winefride's, Vicarage and West Ham Church Primary School.

CSC now teaches chess in 23 schools. More than 4,000 pupils have been involved with the project. There is a successful chess club at Stratford Library and another about to start at East Ham Library.

Malcolm Pein, director of CSC, said: "The sheer number of children playing chess today is a testament to the work being done in schools, which has been supported by the council."

Betting shop application rejected

An application for a new betting shop in Upton Park has been refused a premises licence by members of Newham Council's Licensing Sub-committee.

The William Hill Organisation applied to license new premises in Green Street. The council formally objected to the application, claiming the primary activity at the premises would be gaming machines known as Fixed Odds Betting Terminals rather than traditional over the counter betting.

The council was concerned that vulnerable people could be at risk of being harmed or exploited by this type of gambling. Fixed odds terminals allow people to gamble up to £100 every 20 seconds, which can result in large sums being lost very quickly.

The committee was also told it would be detrimental to the local area because nine betting shops already operate on Green Street. After carefully considering all submissions, councillors decided against allowing the licence.

>>> Opening door to new homes

Newham Council has launched Red Door Ventures, a pioneering company that will build at least 3,000 new private rented homes for residents over the next 13 years and buy a further 500 existing properties.

All the homes will be available for residents at market rent or below. A third of the homes will offer affordable rent subsidised by the council. As the project evolves, there are plans to increase the number of homes available at affordable rent. The company will make Newham the first local authority to deliver a large programme of private rented homes for residents.

The first scheme the company will deliver is 36 homes at The Tanneries on the Leather Gardens estate in Stratford, working with prestigious architecture practice Rogers Stirk Harbour + Partners whose previous projects include the British Museum and Heathrow Airport's Terminal Five. Lord Richard Rogers said: "We are delighted to be designing this pioneering scheme for Newham Council."

CREATING GREAT CITIZENS

Since 2004, more than 35,000 residents have shown their commitment to Queen and country by taking part in a Newham citizenship ceremony to become British citizens. A decade since the test was introduced we take a look at how they are welcomed to Britain, and our borough.

Since 2004, Newham has hosted more than 1,800 citizenship ceremonies for residents who, after successfully applying to settle here, have decided to make Britain their home.

After passing their Life in the UK test, this month, a cohort of proud Brits-in-waiting were invited to gather at Newham Town Hall, East Ham.

The new citizens included people originally from Afghanistan, Armenia, Hong Kong, Pakistan and Somalia. Residents' reasons for coming to the UK were as varied as the countries they arrived from. Some came to study, others to be with their spouses and some fled war.

The gathered crowd, accompanied by their nearest and dearest, collectively swore to an oath of allegiance to The Queen and made a public pledge to observe the laws of Britain and uphold its values. The ceremony concluded with the singing of the National Anthem.

Residents were presented with a nationality certificate, a commemorative medal and special passport holder by the Mayor of Newham.

TALES OF CITIZENSHIP

From Armenia to Manor Park: Manana Aslanyan

"My husband has been here for many years and after we married I came to Newham. Before taking the test I studied English and passed first time."

"I like it here. I have a daughter who is four-and-a-half years old and there are so many interesting things to do for free. I don't think you get as many services elsewhere."

From Somalia to East Ham: Saynab Farah and son Mohamed Saeed

"We came here in 2007 to seek refuge as our country was at war. Newham is a really great place and very multicultural. That's one of the main reasons why we came here. Everyone is friendly, no one criticises you or discriminates against you. That's fantastic."

From India to Forest Gate: Manjit Kaur

"I came here to be with my husband. I learned lots about The Queen preparing for the test. It was very interesting. I've been at home looking after my children for the past six years. Now they're a bit older I want to find work."

From Pakistan to Royal Docks: Ghazanfar Khaliq, Shireen Khaliq

"We came to the UK to study and decided to settle here. We've lived all over Newham and briefly moved to Walthamstow, but moved back after we had our child."

"Newham has a real community feel. It has a very good, close knit community. Where we live there's a good mix of people from different parts of the world and we have made friends with everyone."

From Afghanistan to Upton Park: Jawhar Zahid

"My dad heard about the chance to come here on the news. He thought it would be better as I could have a good education and learn how to speak English. When the army came we came here."

"The best thing about Newham is that I can learn English and there are nice jobs to do when I grow up."

Helping residents find work

Newham Council provides services that support residents and improve lives. For the 20,000 Newham residents who have been helped into work by Workplace, the employment service hasn't only impacted on their life, it's changed it for the better.

Residents that Workplace helped to secure a job were invited to Stratford to celebrate the milestone achievement of 20,000 residents into work. Their stories are as unique as their job roles but one thing they all agree on is that their lives wouldn't be the same without Workplace.

Dawnn Campbell, Royal Docks: care worker

"I was unemployed for three years. I found getting a job really competitive and this broke my confidence. My morale went down even though I was really keen to get a job. Workplace was brilliant. They build up your confidence like no other service out there."

Sirivimol Haynes, Stratford: nursing assistant

"I was involved in an accident which meant I was out of work for two-and-a-half years. Once I'd recovered I found it really difficult to get back into employment. Workplace is an all-round service. They help you in every area and the ongoing support is what makes it unique."

Lee Young, Canning Town: grounds maintenance operative

"I left college and wanted to get a job, but found it difficult. Workplace was really quick in helping me through the steps I needed to get a job. It's an excellent service which I would recommend to any young person in the borough."

Frank Nnamani, Stratford: security officer

"I was made redundant when the company I worked for closed down. Workplace is great and gives you hope. Before this job they helped me to get a number of jobs. I was never out of work for too long because their ongoing support meant that I was straight back into work."

POLICE, COUNCIL, ACTION

A major drug supply line has been severed by Newham Police in a covert operation supported by Newham Council.

Operation Centaur is a joint initiative with the council aimed at dismantling and disrupting the supply of Class A drugs in Newham. It tackles serious and organised drug crime in the borough, leading to significant, long-term reductions in drug-related offences such as burglary, robbery and anti-social behaviour.

Last month, 15 search warrants saw 16 people arrested in raids targeting drug-related criminality. Alleged offences included the supply of Class A drugs, possession with intent to supply Class A drugs and money laundering.

Almost £70,000 of cash and a large quantity of drugs, including approximately 50 rocks of crack cocaine and cannabis, were recovered during Operation Centaur.

Residents living around the E7 and E15 boundary on Romford Road complained that the area was being blighted by the sale of drugs. Criminal behaviour included drug taking and dealing, prostitution and street crime – a direct result of two Class A supply chains operating from either side of Romford Road.

Drug suppliers were targeted in a number of simultaneous afternoon raids. Usually conducted at dawn, the raids took place during the day to reassure the community that their concerns are being acted on, and to alert criminals that the police could soon be knocking on their door.

The operation saw the specialist resources and skills of the Metropolitan Police at work alongside enforcement officers from Newham Council.

Detective Chief Inspector Dave Rock, from Newham police, said: "This was an intelligence-led operation, based on reports of criminal activity from the community. We have listened to our community's concerns, gathered evidence, and taken robust action against those responsible."

This detailed investigation spanned months and involved a variety of tactics including undercover police and intelligence from residents who contacted the council and the local Safer Neighbourhoods Team.

Crack house closures

Last month, closure notices were served on properties in Warrior Square, E12; Ordnance Road, E16; and Blakesley House, Grantham Road, E12 after residents complained that the homes had been turned into drug dens and, in some cases, were being used by prostitutes.

The property in Ordnance Road was being used to take Class A drugs. Eight people linked to the address, not including the occupant, had 281 convictions, warnings and cautions for theft related matters and 23 in relation to drug offences.

A flat in Grantham Road was being used by squatters to sell and take drugs. A variety of weapons and numerous drug wraps were seized from the property.

The property in Warrior Square was being used by prostitutes and drug users. Police had been called on various occasions to deal with fights. The council and police are working to permanently remove the tenant from the address.

Police officers funded by the council have secured the premises for three months. During this period the police have control of the property and can arrest any person trying to gain entry without good reason.

The closures and temporary seizure of these properties is part of the council's crack house closure protocol with the police. Both are working together to shut places where drugs are taken, dealt or produced.

To report crime, in confidence, call Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111. Calls are not recorded and you do not need to give your name.

Book up

World Book Night is an international celebration of reading, bringing the love of books to a wider audience. It takes place on Wednesday 23 April, the day that Shakespeare was born and also died. This year sees book gifting, where you can receive a free book, in libraries around Newham.

Newham has ten libraries. They are places where people can come together, take time out and learn things. This is just one of the reasons that, unlike other councils, Newham Council has not closed a single library and has invested almost £5.2m in libraries and a further £14.3m in the new East Ham Customer Service Centre and Library.

Libraries have regular coffee mornings. There's a book club for children at North Woolwich, games clubs at The Gate, Canning Town and Custom House, plus Knit and Natter meetings at Canning Town, Beckton Globe and Manor Park. Turn to page 34 for more details.

World Book Night

Newham libraries are extending their opening hours to host the following World Book Night events:

DOIN' ALL THE RIGHT FINGS

TV's EastEnders star Jessie Wallace wipes off her make-up as she gazes from a rehearsal space window overlooking Theatre Royal Stratford East (TRSE). "You know, fings really ain't what they used to be," she says.

"This part of London is changing by the day," she adds. "I can't believe it. Everything has built up around that little theatre. It is the oldest thing here. It's sad in one way, but amazing in others."

Jessie is to tread the boards for the first time at TRSE in a new production of witty and warm-hearted musical Fings Ain't Wot They Used T'Be, from Thursday 8 May to Sunday 8 June. She leads the cast with Gary Kemp from pop band Spandau Ballet.

Fings has music and lyrics by Lionel Bart, who also wrote the music for Oliver!. It tells of an East End and Soho lifestyle at the end of the 1950s teeming with coffee houses, gamblers, spivs, prostitutes, dodgy coppers and teddy boys before rock and roll hit the streets.

The show was originally developed at TRSE in 1959 by legendary director Joan Littlewood and her Theatre Workshop Company before transferring to the West End. It helped launch the career of Barbara Windsor. The 2014 version has been adapted by Elliot Davis and commemorates Littlewood's centenary.

Jessie can't wait to appear alongside Gary, who plays a policeman, and Mark Arden, who plays her boyfriend. She said: "My partner Tim Arnold is a musician and has done a few gigs with Gary but I've never worked properly with him. I'm looking forward to being with him and Mark, who is also brilliant."

Jessie, best known for being Kat Moon in BBC's EastEnders, is no stranger to the stage. "I love it," she said. "People become actors so they can work on stage. You get a buzz from walking out in front of a live audience every night. I get really nervous but it is good nerves. I have missed that."

The actress is excited Fings is being revived at its original home. She said: "I love the music of Lionel Bart and the fact it's a celebration of Joan Littlewood and at this theatre is a dream come true. I keep pinching myself."

"In the original production workshop in 1959, Lil, who I play, was performed by Pat Phoenix from Coronation Street. I played Pat on television, so that must be a good sign."

"Going to the theatre is a great education for kids. It is good for their confidence, not being stuck in front of the telly or hanging about on the streets."

The original also starred Jessie's former EastEnders colleague Barbara Windsor. "Tim, my partner, came to see Oh What a Lovely War when Barbara was there. She gave him some tips for me so that was nice. Even though I'm not playing the role Barbara had, it is nice a member of the original cast is rooting for me."

Jessie may not have worked with Gary Kemp before, but his brother Martin appeared in EastEnders. "Both brothers are so professional and when you work with people like that it makes you want to up your game," she said.

The show's revival, along with Oh What a Lovely War, is part of TRSE's tribute to Joan Littlewood. Does Jessie think she would approve? "I don't know. Elliot, our producer, believes she would probably have said we should be doing something new. I like to think her spirit is guiding us."

Jessie's character, long-suffering Lil, loves boyfriend Fred and wants him to make an honest women of her when he's out of prison. It sounds a bit like EastEnders so would Kat Moon like Lil? "No, I don't think she would," said Jessie. "I think she would find her moany. Lil would like Kat though."

Jessie expects the production to appeal to all and is supportive of Newham Council's partnership with TRSE to get young people into the theatre. She said: "Tickets start here at just £7 so there's no excuse not to come."

"Going to the theatre is a great education for kids. It is good for their confidence, not being stuck in front of the telly or hanging about on the streets. Fings will appeal to a young audience. I can't wait to start."

Dance

THE DAY AWAY

On Wednesday 23 April we're inviting you to don your dancing shoes and head to the Old Town Hall Stratford for our ever popular tea dance, which this month has a distinctly patriotic feel as we celebrate St George's Day.

We're celebrating England's patron saint, St George, with a special tea dance, flying the flag of England from our town halls and inviting you to hold your own celebrations, with up to £500 of funding as part of our Let's Get the Party Started grants programme.

Tea dances cost £3, which gives you three hours of ballroom dance music, refreshments including hot and cold beverages, sandwiches and cake, entry into the raffle and a postcode lottery prize draw for Newham residents.

The much loved tea dance programme is changing to allow even more people to get involved. Currently restricted to the over 50s, later this year family tea dances will be introduced, with some dances taking place on the weekend to allow more people to enjoy these wonderful events.

Also coming soon, if you have two left feet come along and learn the ropes before you hit the dance floor with free, warm up dance lessons for Newham residents.

The monthly tea dances will soon take place more frequently and some, like the St George's Day event, will be specially themed. Tea dances will be held in venues across Newham, making them more accessible to those who'd like to join in.

If you're a tea dance regular, and would like to volunteer at the events, join the tea dance advisory group. Full training is provided where needed.

For more information about tea dances, or to volunteer, email alison.davenport@newham.gov.uk, call 020 3373 2051 or visit www.newham.gov.uk/teadances

SCI-FI-LONDON

IS BACK

With more than 30 films over 11 days, this year's SCI-FI-LONDON film festival at the Stratford Picture House, Theatre Square, £15, has even more thrills and excitement than ever.

The 14th SCI-FI-LONDON Film Festival runs from Thursday 24 April to Sunday 4 May and in those 11 days you can see some of the best science fiction and other fantastic films from around the world.

This year's event will host more than 20 UK and international premieres. There will be all-nighters, documentaries, short films, animation and film-making events, as well as industry workshops and networking events.

The annual 48-hour film challenge returns, inviting you to create a five-minute short film or a 1,500 word short story. On top of all this there is also the SCI-FI-LONDON dog show and the quiz.

Film highlights

Upside Down (UK premiere) – This is a story about two people living on different planets and how their love bridges the gap between worlds with gravities that pull in opposite directions. Stars Timothy Spall, Kirsten Dunst and Jim Sturgess. Sunday 4 May, 7.30pm.

Lost Time (world premiere) – A thrilling sci-fi horror where a woman struggles to find her sister across multiple dimensions and through lost time. A scary movie about abduction, loss and parallel worlds. Thursday 24 April, 7pm.

Saving Star Wars – Dave Prowse (the body of Darth Vader) stars in this quirky comedy set at a Star Wars convention, where two hapless guys with good intentions end up kidnapping George Lucas. Monday 28 April, 6.30pm.

Who's Changing: An Adventure in Time with Fans... – A great documentary about Doctor Who fans, stars of the show, companions, writers and producers. Includes a panel discussion with Doctor Who audio and comic creators. Sunday 4 May, 11.30am.

Shorts programme

You can enjoy up to ten amazing short films from around the world in each of the five sessions. Friday 25 April, 3.30pm; Saturday 26 April, 11.30am; Sunday 27 April, 6pm/8pm; Sunday 4 May, 4.30pm.

All-nighters

Saturday 26 April, 11pm, Stratford Picture House

Alien night – All of the director's cuts of all four Alien movies are being shown back-to-back on the big screen for the first time.

Anime all-nighter – Five movies back-to-back, with some of the finest Japanese animation on the big screen including: Paterna Inverted, Kill La Kill and Blood-C: The Last Dark.

Mystery Science Theatre 3000 – This legendary sci-fi show ran for 11 years in the USA but hardly got shown here. SCI-FI-LONDON is bringing over two of the cast from the US and will show five of the best/worst films ever – you will be up all night laughing.

SCI-FIDO: the SCI-FI-LONDON dog show

Bring your pet dogs dressed as superheroes, TV or film characters to Theatre Square, Stratford, on Sunday 4 May, 1.30pm. There will be prizes for the best costumes and each dog will be papped by Dog Star Photography, who will give you a free copy of the picture.

Competition

SCI-FI-LONDON have put up a fantastic series of prizes for an exclusive Newham Mag competition. These include:

- two VIP passes – each of these gives you, plus a guest, full access to every single film and event, including parties, as SCI-FI-LONDON's special guest.
- four pairs of tickets to any event at the festival
- two tickets to the any of the all-nighters.

To be in with a chance of winning just answer the following question. Which of these is a science fiction film?

1. The Great Escape    2. The Sound of Music    3. Alien

Email your answer, each of the draws you would like to be entered for (or all), your name, age, address and telephone number to newham.mag@newham.gov.uk or send it to Newham Mag, 1000 Dockside Road, London, E16 2QU by 12noon Friday 18 April. # Young voters make your mark

On Thursday 22 May, people across the country will let their feet do the talking as they head to their nearest polling station to vote for their local councillors and European Member of Parliament. In Newham, there'll also be a vote for the directly elected Mayor of Newham. Next month, a wave of first time voters will take to the polls, voters such as Faheem Dharma.

Faheem from Forest Gate is looking forward to election day when he can exercise his right to vote for the first time. He said: "I believe it's important to vote as every person should have their say. An election is the only chance you have to vote for who you think is the right person or party to be in charge."

As a former youth councillor, Faheem is no stranger to the democratic process of voting and has experience of campaigning when he stood for Newham Young Mayor in 2011. So it's no surprise that he has been keeping a keen eye on the campaign trail. He said: "I have received a few party manifestos in the post. One thing that is important to me is more opportunities for young people. Young people should be able to secure a career via different paths, not just education but also things like apprenticeships and work experience."

Faheem, now 20, registered to vote aged 18. Whatever your age, if you're not on the electoral roll you have until Tuesday 6 May to make sure you can have your say. He is still deciding which candidates and parties best represent his views but he is eagerly awaiting the moment when he can make his mark and vote for the first time. He said: "A lot of people moan and complain once everything's happened. They don't like the fact that a group of people might be doing something that they don't agree with, so this is their chance to put the right people in charge."

"Even if you're not interested in voting just take ten minutes to look at what the candidates are pledging to do as, whether you take part or not, what happens after the election will affect you."

DEADLINE TO REGISTER TO VOTE:

On the cutting edge

After graduating in law and having worked his way through university as a bar manager, Russ Khroma decided to put his practical experience to use and in November last year opened the Sawmill café at 51 West Ham Lane, E15.

> WORKING LIVES

If you love fine foods Sawmill is the place to go. It is the home of exquisite hand-made cakes, gorgeous gateaux and tastebud-tingling tarts, all served with the finest teas and coffees.

What made you chose Newham?

I lived here before I went to university and central London is saturated with cafes, so this was the obvious choice. Ever since we opened people come in and say: "Why Newham?" Well, why not?

Are there advantages to being in Newham?

Definitely, the council were really helpful when we were setting up, especially the food standards people.

What do you think sets the Sawmill apart from others?

Good food, good coffee and a great atmosphere – right here on your doorstep.

Why so many cakes?

We put together whatever we think people will like. People always ask where we get our inspiration. Italy? France? Eastern Europe? The short answer is everywhere. We rotate our chefs and we take inspiration from the countries they are from.

Is there a Sawmill signature cake?

My personal signature cake would be the cinnamon crumble. That's my own recipe through and through. It's the opposite of a crumble – the apples are on top, the crumble is at the bottom and it's really delicious.

Was the interior design your vision too?

Yep, it was all our own work – me, my mum, dad and brother. People ask who the designer was, but it was us. This used to be an estate agents. We poked a hole through the plaster, saw a nice brick wall behind it and I decided to clean up the bricks. The lighting and the mirror installation, we made all of those ourselves. We made the tables and chairs too – all the wood was cut, polished and finished here.

Readers' writes

What is your favourite Newham café or coffee shop? Send a review of up to 100 words, about why you think it is great to newham.mag@newham.gov.uk and you might see it printed in the Newham Mag.

Where did the name come from?

It's because this place was literally a sawmill for four months. We had piles of wood and a massive circular saw. We were cutting and sawing and polishing. It became like a little code word between us – "I'm just heading off to the Sawmill to do some work" – and it just kind of stuck.

How have customers reacted?

It's been overwhelmingly positive. There has been positive feedback online via Facebook, Twitter and in person and it has yet to stop.

You accept Bitcoin, could you explain about it?

Bitcoin is digital currency that lets you make instant payments to anyone, anywhere in the world. Ever since I posted on Twitter that we accepted bitcoin we've had people coming in. I process the payments and convert the bitcoin immediately into pounds. I could keep all the payments in bitcoin and speculate on the market, but I prefer to keep it in pounds. I didn't think that it was going to be so popular but we've had the BBC and Al Jazeera TV come down and do pieces on it.

Sawmill is open 8am-8pm, seven days a week. They bake every day so each day you will find different things on the menu. In the near future you can also expect to see a new premium coffee menu that will include things like Madagascan vanilla.

To find out more follow them on Twitter @cafesawmill

Special offer: Newham Mag

Get a free tea or coffee when you buy any slice of cake at the Sawmill – cut out this voucher and present it when you make a purchase. Valid until Saturday 31 May 2014.

WAR DANCE

A new aerial dance show which combines stories from World War I (WWI) and Afghanistan is about to premiere at Stratford Circus before embarking on a nationwide tour.

Rites of War looks at the experience of two soldiers from each war using dance, film and music. It is a collaboration between performer and artistic director of Gravity and Levity, Lindsey Butcher, choreographer Darshan Singh Bhuller and the BBC's Afghanistan correspondent David Loyn.

The production could not have come about at a more fitting time, with the centenary of WW1 and the withdrawal of British troops from Afghanistan both taking place this year. Lindsey said: "I wanted to work with a very real subject matter. This isn't a piece about the bigger picture of war but individual stories of survival and pity."

"It'll be a very visual experience and will hopefully make people think about the subject"

Using breathtaking aerial performance, Rites of War exposes the humanity and inhumanity of war, the ugly truths and occasional beauty of living and loving through conflicts. Lindsey said: "War is too wide a subject matter. To make it personal we focused on individual stories, rather than try and represent the whole conflict." From this Lindsey developed a story that could be told through dance. She said: "We've stripped down our aerial work, removing tricks and only using skills that portray the essence of the story."

Rites of War promises a unique perspective on war, as Lindsey explained: "Aerial performance literally makes people see things differently. It shifts you from looking at a stage to performers moving up a wall. It's a serious subject, but people should leave feeling moved by what they've seen. It'll be a very visual experience and will hopefully make people think about the subject."

Rites of War* is showing at Stratford Circus, Theatre Square, E15, from Thursday 1 to Saturday 3 May. Tickets cost £12 / £10 conc/ Newham residents, £8 students. Visit www.stratford-circus.com or call 0844 357 2625 to book.

Win tickets

We have two pairs of tickets to the performance on Friday 2 May at 7.30pm, with an exclusive backstage tour and chance to meet the cast. For your chance to win, email your name, address and contact number to newham.mag@newham.gov.uk or write to Newham Mag, Newham Dockside, 1000 Dockside Road, London E16 2QU, before Friday 25 April.

Do the right thing – don't rubbish where you live, don't rubbish Newham.

Newham Council is working hard to keep Newham's streets clean and tidy. We don't want our work undone by a small minority of unthinking people who drop litter. That is why we are clamping down on littering and other forms of anti-social behaviour.

Last month we:

- > issued 478 fixed penalty notices for littering and received £20,460 in fines
- > took 71 littering cases to court, including 24 cases of dropping cigarettes, one case of fly tipping, three cases of spitting and two cases of urination.

Twenty-one cases were adjourned by magistrates, to this month, but of those prosecuted, the fines, costs and victim surcharge totalled more than £8,000.

In March this year Newham Council also successfully undertook 30 prosecutions for more serious offences including: housing offences, fraud, noise, dangerous dogs and other forms of anti-social behaviour. These prosecutions resulted in fines totalling more than £24,000 and more than £10,000 in court costs.

The message is simple – don't rubbish where you live, don't rubbish Newham.

Don't put up with rubbish. To get it cleared report it online at
